For the past quarter of a century, D&Ri has stood resolute and steadfast in its coverage and support of this unique and vital sector.

As a result, its World Demolition Summit (WDS) is now known around the world as one of the most ground-breaking, informative and enjoyable annual events in the industry.

As the new programme organiser, I am hugely excited to reveal that for the first time in its history, the WDS will travel to Scandinavia – a region known as much for its welcoming people as it is for being at the forefront of sustainable development and innovation.

The beautiful and historic city of Stockholm, Sweden, will provide the backdrop for WDS delegates to catch up with former business colleagues, make new contacts and to share their experiences.

The conference itself will deliver high-level technical presentations on the latest demolition, decommissioning and dismantling projects, and new insights into how contractors can address the issues facing today's industry, while embracing a more circular economy.

As if all of the above wasn't reason enough to be there, WDS 2024 will close out with the World Demolition Awards

It is a spectacular gala evening that brings everyone together to celebrate the achievements of both contractors and OEMs alike. A highlight of the year for many, it is an occasion not to be missed.

Leila Steed

Editor, Demolition & Recycling International

This year our collaboration with D&Ri – our International Media Partner – reaches its landmark 25th anniversary, and we are proud to once again be a key partner of the World Demolition Summit.

Proving its longevity, today it is one of the biggest and most highly regarded demolition events in the world. One that gives EDA members, non-members and international contractors the chance to share our experiences and acquire new knowledge.

Last year, we had the pleasure of attending the 15th WDS in Toronto, Canada. It was quite a flight for the EDA, however, once we stepped into the venue, we instantly knew that it was worth it!

The environment, as well as the warm welcome we received, was impressive, as professionals from over 150 companies gathered together to discuss the industry, make connections and exchange knowledge.

We have no doubt that WDS 2024 will be every bit as valuable to EDA members, and we greatly look forward to meeting you in Stockholm in November, as well as in Belgrade for the EDA's 2024 Annual Convention in June.

Stefano Panseri

President, EDA

Following the massively successful event in Toronto last year, WDS 2024 in Scandinavia is set to be another great opportunity for NDA members.

Held in a region that has led the way on environmental issues for so many years, it will give North American demolition and dismantling specialists a unique chance to learn more about sustainable practices, as well as to gain new insight into innovative projects and technological advancements.

Networking is at the heart of the WDS and this is a huge draw for NDA members, who at last year's event in Canada were able to make business connections with over 400 industry professionals from 18 different countries, including Japan, New Zealand, South Africa and Argentina.

The NDA, which this year celebrates its 50th anniversary, looks forward to welcoming its members to Sweden for what it is sure will be another successful World Demolition Summit.

This is our first time attending the WDS. We are very surprised by how good the turn out has been. For us it's mainly because of the people we met, all the end customers and demolition companies. For us it's really been important to take the opportunities to meet and to show the products and make new connections.
